BEYOND THE HORIZON: ONINDUS' JOURNEY OF EMBRACING CHANGE AND INDUSTRY INSIGHTS

TRENDS AND DEVELOPMENTS IN THE CAPITAL PROJECT MANAGEMENT INDUSTRY

Complete Life Cycle - Capital Planning to Development and Asset Management

There is a shift in holistic thinking of capital project leaders and owners to start thinking of assets as a portfolio, not just capital projects.

Artificial intelligence in project management is on the rise

World witnessed a technological revolution in the form of the emergence of AI in 2023. OnIndus adopted AI to provide Task Automation, Data Analytics, Reporting, Schedule Management and more.

The significance of Resource Management is increasing steadily

In 2023, Owners shifted their focus towards resource utilization to reduce their operating cost and maximize productivity. By accurately tracking and allocating resources, organizations can avoid overallocation or underutilization of resources, reducing the risk of budget overruns. This is particularly important in industries where tight financial control is essential for project success.

Greater Focus on Agility

The owners have started looking at change management as an opportunity for growth and improvement rather than a disruptive force. OnIndus introduced a complete change management solution for the capital project owners to adapt the digitization across the multiple functions of their construction projects.

Sustainable Infrastructure is the Need of the Hour

Capital project leaders have underscored the significance of sustainable infrastructure, emphasizing the need to prioritize environmental conservation amid limited resources. We are contributing to this concept with our expertise in the PMIS technology that enables the integration of various project aspects, including cost management, scheduling, resource allocation, and risk assessment, fostering a holistic approach to sustainability.
